- * Documentation, UML, wiki and other

Algoritmi S.r.l. Programmer and Software Designer for applications based on the Asterisk PBX. With this system I have completed several projects of which the most important are:

- Application for call center that handles calls from clients and hands them over to a free operator. The product works with sockets, the server(daemon) on Linux platform, passes the calls to the operators (configured with Visual Basic and integrated with FileMaker Pro). The product is completely developed in C++.
- Interface for management of the Asterisk PBX. Written in PHP, Perl and C++.

Easysystem S.r.l. Participated in developing various projects Client Server nature at the Toyota Formula 1 team in Cologne, Germany. The most important project consisted of the lifing system of the racing car. The lifing system is a system that allows the engineers to monitor the history of the construction of the car in detail and have specific details of every single part of the car.

- Teaching C programming at the Politecnico di Milano (Technical University of Milan).
- Teaching at Visual Basic 6 Programming at the Politecnico di Milano (Technical University of Milan).
- Teaching Linux Administration at the Politecnico di Milano (Technical University of Milan).
- Teaching at Team Memory S.r.l., Piacenza in Linux Administration course.
- Teaching at Apogeo, Pavia in MySQL administration.
- Teaching at Apogeo, Pavia in PHP programming.
